01 — Meet Studio

Three distinct designs, endless potential. Studio is our modern collection of Roundhouse-made cabinets and accessories that can be configured to produce truly exceptional kitchens, bedrooms and ancillary rooms.

Conceived as a supporting collection to our fully bespoke kitchens, Studio condenses all our manufacturing and design know-how into a set menu of finishes, sizes and colours. Design-led, stylish and made-to-last, Studio is everything you'd expect from Roundhouse, and more.

Create your perfect design

Choose from three door styles: Urbo with its handleless door, the plain slab Metro door or Frameless Classic, a timeless Shaker option. Select from a curated palette of 14 smooth matt colours, as well as three metallic paint finishes – copper, bronze and silver – and 12 textured finishes (Urbo and Metro only). Elevate your design via accessories in solid oak or walnut, floating shelves and integrated lighting.

02— When to choose Studio

There are no limits to Studio's versatility. For kitchens, Studio answers the call for a simpler aesthetic with outstanding performance.

You can easily use Studio exclusively for an effortlessly beautiful kitchen with longevity guaranteed. But, if you're looking to add custom solutions or unique touches, Studio can also be combined with our bespoke Design Collection with truly exceptional results. .

Enjoy design cohesion throughout

Studio is perfectly pitched for ancillary rooms, such as the laundry, boot room, back kitchen, children's bedrooms and playrooms – allowing Roundhouse's high-quality furniture and flawless installation service to be enjoyed throughout the home.

03— How it's made

Studio is made in the same Malvern-based workshops, by the same team of skilled cabinetmakers, using the same high-tech production processes as our bespoke furniture.

This is not an off-the-peg offering; Studio stands alongside Design and is made-to-order exclusively for each individual project. This means you can expect the same high levels of quality control and craftsmanship no matter which Roundhouse collection you set your heart on.

It's all in the details

Constructed from 18mm-thick MFC, with all drawer runners, hinges and components made by leading brand Blum, there are no compromises when it comes to the build quality of your Studio furniture. From Studio's sophisticated Onyx Grey cabinet interiors to easy-clean drawer boxes in powder-coated steel, expect Roundhouse's renowned precision manufacturing at every level.

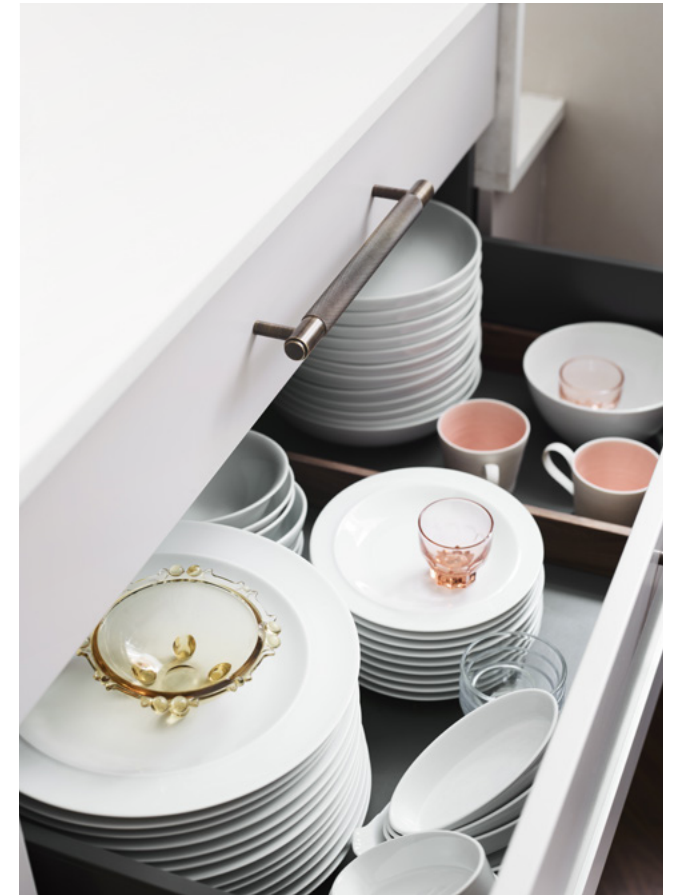

Creativity is always encouraged at Roundhouse, and our Studio projects are no exception.

Create stand out features using our smart array of internal accessories, open box shelving, lighting, and glazed wall cabinets. Use spice racks, solid timber drawer fronts and LED motion sensor lighting to conceive beautifully appointed larders, pantries and breakfast cupboards. You can also personalise your Studio design with custom handles, providing an easy way to add a fresh layer of interest to the space.

The Roundhouse difference

Studio benefits from our R&D team's expertise at every level and has been especially created to allow maximum creative freedom. We're particularly proud of Studio's three metallic feature doors in copper, bronze and silver, which allow you to introduce an extra layer of interest and personality to your scheme.

05 — Design expertise

From small design decisions, like placing those sockets out of sight, to the ‘bigger picture’ moments such as sourcing the perfect slab of statement marble, our award-winning designers will support you every step of the way.

Working to suit your budget, our designers are trained to maximise Studio’s full potential, combining with bespoke elements where desired, and harnessing our architectural background to achieve an ergonomically efficient, highly functional space.

Lean into our expertise

We’ve got insider insight into the latest kitchen and appliance technology and can help make smart decisions on those big investments like range cookers, steam ovens and wine conditioning. While we certainly have favourite brands we know and trust, all our recommendations are entirely independent and tailored to your individual lifestyle needs.

06 — Installation and support

Every Studio kitchen comes with a personal installation pack containing detailed technical drawings for your builder or contractor.

This is designed to ensure all the plumbing, electrical and ducting work is in place before our dedicated installation team arrive on site, helping the entire process to run quickly, efficiently and without stress.

With you every step of the way

From concept to completion, Roundhouse can take care of every aspect of your Studio design. Our own in-house team will install your new cabinetry with the utmost care and consideration. Once everything is in and ready to go, our customer support team are on-hand to explain how everything works and offer care and maintenance advice to keep your new investment looking its very best.

07— Local and sustainable

Choosing made-to-order cabinetry that is beautifully crafted in the UK is sustainably superior on many levels.

Buying locally results in significant reductions on transportation emissions but we also work hard to ensure our manufacturing and packaging processes are as green as possible from inception to installation.

Protecting the environment

All the timber we use at Roundhouse is FSC registered and comes from sustainably managed forests that we can, and do, trace back to source. We're also proud of our tree-planting partnership with The Woodland Trust, which helps protect and restore native woodland in the UK, as well as our biomass boiler that turns timber waste into heat and hot water for our factory in Malvern, Worcestershire.
